Classic and Modern British Theatre in London's West End

Oliver Savage

December 9 – 14, 2016

Travel Fee: $2,600

Grades 9-12

Travel to England, the homeland of Shakespeare, Wilde and Pinter, to learn firsthand about the culture that produced such a rich history of theatre. Study the context, biographies and textual styles of great British playwrights then see their works performed in historically listed theatres by the world's greatest classically trained actors. From our base in London's West End, we will explore Westminster, Shakespeare's Globe and The National Theatre, as well as see contemporary work performed at some of the smaller boutique theatres in North London. We conclude with a three day wrap-up on campus, including student presentations, projects and short films analyzing the experience.
